Ok after 9 and the park is soooooo friggin scary dark. Before they added the workout stuff and pathways (which small % of community are enjoying) , I wish they would have asked the community if they would prefer more lighting to make our park safer. Anyway, a couple of lumps of "sleepers" and a few parties with loud obnoxious teens. Few groups enjoying pathway bike and skateboard riders, and many waited til got cooler to use workout areas.

No crime. I just made an observation I was behind this RV with a whole load of bikes junk. It was on Mason. So I stayed behind it. It turned on Roscoe. So I continued behind it just to see where it was going. It turned onto Deering.

If anyone is missing the Asian doctor who lost his wallet, he approached my husband at the Home Depot on Roscoe today. This time he said he's from Lancaster and didn't realize his wallet was missing. He told my husband the police said it was ok to ask for money. He went on to the next victim when my husband told him to go away.

The election in November can be a feasible solution that can enact a change. What's happening with all the complacency in Sacramento on the law breakers and being out right disrespectful to the people that follow the laws and respect the rights of others. These transients/drug addicts do not respect nor care about anyone's rights. Sorry!, but they are the reason for the increase in crime.....car and home breakins, property thefts.

Michael Benedetto

11:09pm Jul 21

Sorry, but they are not all addicts, they need our help, some of these are actually professional people. Everyone is about four paychecks or one huge medical problem away from being homeless

Michael Benedetto

Proposition H and proposition HHH were past to devote $1.5 billion towards homelessness, we need to ensure that this money is spent properly to give these less fortunate people the tools and a chance to become productive members of society again

We need to start organizing all this data we are collecting so that it can be used to make change. I would like to contribute my skills as a video editor, organize the footage and start putting it on a YouTube channel to get the videos into the broad public eye so that they can be aware of how bad the homeless, transient, and drug user situation is in our area. How do you all feel about this? I will figure out a workflow so that we can organize and put the footage into useful compilations that can clearly and effectively get the message out. Cool? I am hoping that other can step forward to contribute their skills with photos and writings of the events along with a team to execute all this in an organized fashion in a way they see fit. Fern Peskin-White if this post is not allowed here please let me know or if you have any suggestions. Especially anything we can do to help police get their message out. Thanks!

not WH crime related but CA crime related

This man randomly stabbed an innocent 18 yo girl as she was minding her own business the other day, waiting for a train at an SF BART station. He killed her. Notice the chief said he just got out of the CA correctional system 4 months ago. 1) how many crimes do you think he's committed □ 2) I'll bet he was given a slap on the wrist and let free way too early 3) maybe now they will lock him up for good after an innocent child is dead. So tragic ☹️

Our state leaders have lost their damn minds about the reality of crime in our state.

Corner of Fallbrook and Ventura. Gray truck giving this addict some money. Wish I could have told him he was only going to use it for drugs. The homeless guy was sleeping on the street with a female around 8:00 this morning. Saw them a few times hanging out in the southeast corner as I was driving up and down the Blvd.

I spoke to White Harte Pub

This has NOTHING to do with White Harte Pub.
This story is so twisted around

2 girls were walking to there car that night and a female approached them asking for a ride to Fallbrook Ave
The girls offered to call a taxi for her and she refused and started screaming at them then walked away
All the Sex/ child trafficking chitter chatter was just them thinking what it could of been.
The woman walked away

This was texted to a friend and from there apparently hit social media and stories changed

I posted the original post as a reminder to always be aware
And never give a ride to a stranger regardless

The other part of this is the enablers who think they're doing good by giving money to these panhandlers perhaps not realizing (or not caring) that they're using the money to get high and fall further down the hole. Just as you don't leave food out for coyotes to come into your backyard and attack your pets, you don't give money to panhandlers who use the money to buy illegal drugs and further destroy their brains. Once the money dries up here, they either will have to move on or come to accept the help they are offered through the HOPE team, the police and others on a daily basis. As Smokey the Bear used to say, "Only You..."

I wonder if the young men live close because the one in the red sweats doesn't have a sweatshirt on in this video but has a hooded sweatshirt on in our video.

Our Jeep was stolen on Canzonet last night at 3am and a girl tried to get into our other car on the driveway unsuccessfully. Anyone recognize this person? Scary how quick they took the Jeep. In less than a minute and it was locked.

Nobody called you a skank. Your language is skanky as you repeated and swore at the crazy person. It's dangerous and no police officer wants the public to get involved in these types of instances. You seem very angry and combative.

I remember going to New York City with my parents when I was a child (many years ago), and I remember seeing the Guardian Angels patrolling different areas. They used to have chapters around the country. I wonder if there is anything similar to that organization, here in the LA area, that can supplement the LAPD.

So what's going to happen now??

First I want to offer my sincere thanks to each and every one of you that visited my going away meeting/party, brought cards, heartfelt letters, incredible gifts, and your love to my send-off (and to those that were unable to attend). I did my best to police the community in my father's footsteps and his guidance must have served me well judging by the tremendous outpouring of support as I left. Thank you all so very much.

The Senior Lead Officer position is a coveted spot of considerable responsibility. As such there is an open interview process for candidates from all over the City of LA to apply and be ranked. Only those candidates that are rated as "Outstanding" are even up for consideration, so it's not as simple as just picking someone. Now that I have retired, the city can advertise my spot and begin this process. It can take a couple of months so be patient. I'm quite sure that it will be proudly announced once a selection is made and approved by the Chief of Police. In the interim, SLO Sean Dinse will be assisted by several officers (currently Ofcr Greg Archambault) trying to keep the Woodland Hills-West area covered. My old city cell phone number will go to whoever covers the area [REDACTED].

Out of respect for those that have seen quite enough about my retirement, please keep comments about that on the other posts and I'll work my way through them as soon as I get a chance (This retirement stuff is busy!) Let's keep this one focused on the questions/concerns you might have about the next person that will proudly wear the Star of Senior Lead Officer.

So what's going to happen now??

First I want to offer my sincere thanks to each and every one of yo...

If this is true or not true, I'd suggest the same answer, just call 911. If it were me being followed I would never ask to get a ride home from a stranger. I would yell 911 for help and want someone to call 911 for me. Why would I simply just ask to go home? Right?!?

When I spoke to security at the bldg, when I was there, I was told that she is moving out around August. God knows she is going to hurt someone and shouldn't be driving. I grew up in the valley, and like everyone, have seen a LOT of bad drivers and I hate to be redundant but I really have NEVER seen anything like the way she drives through traffic, and its infuriating and she should be stripped of her license..if she even has one!!

Well if you're looking for a crime....there might be a few...no license plate for over a year according to another reply on the thread....reckless driving in sure is a crime...I've also seen this lunatic she has driven almost diagonally from I guess the fast lane to an off ramp, I've seen her run stop signs and red lights. Also reading here that she has been fined as her dad has paid them off infuriates me....if she ends up killing someone and sadly she will her father should also be held responsible.

Keep up the good reporting Fern. A lady in San Francisco Neiman's was attacked by a transient man on Friday afternoon in their cafe with scissors. Thank god she is okay. I was just there that day too 😊 unfortunately up in the bay transients are not addressed properly.

Just spotted the guy named Harrison on Corbin and Topham. He came out behind the church on the corner with his pants down and heading south on Corbin now. I tried to call non emergency but no one is answering. Fern Peskin-White Sean Dinse

Just terrible how the community is decaying...

Loitering and littering are tickets at most, and trespassing applies to private property and has to be reported by the property owner. As for the rest, an LEO has to either seem them happen in real time or needs probable cause to perform a search. So knock yourself out and ticket the hell out of these people.

Josh Harris a person must be taken in and arrested if identity cannot be established in the field. They can be taken downtown and released downtown to make it more difficult for them to return. As for tickets being issued, failures to appear are misdemeanors and lead to arrest warrants for the next time police have contact That allows them to searches incident to arrest that will More than likely uncover other crimes.

Effective policing is a process. It is not intended to work in one shot but can work if it is persistent, vigilant, and aggressively pursued.

If the police do not aggressively police and go after the transient population, then it is only a matter of time before the community gets fed up and takes the law into its own hands by the formation of vigilante groups.

And then more lawlessness will ensue.

This is exactly what happened in New York when the Police became ineffective in ridding the subways of crime. The Guardian Angels were formed and off shoots of that group engaged in vigilante justice.

As such there is precedent establishing that, if something is not done soon to address the rampant lawlessness of the transient population, there is a good chance members of the community will feel the need to take the law into their own hands.

And this is not a good thing.

Marilyn Clark I meant the politicians and government officials who are supposed to be enforcing the laws. They don't enforce the laws as strictly as they should because they are afraid of the optics.
